

Notes for Contributors

Articles for Interactions: Studies in Communication and Culture should normally be 6000–8000 words in length. The remit in terms of subject matter for this journal is broad but authors should bear in mind the twin, central concerns of communication and culture when sending material to us for consideration. Detailed instructions on house style can best be obtained from the Intellect website, at

Any matters concerning the format and presentation of articles not covered by the above notes should be addressed to the Editor. The guidance on this page is by no means comprehensive: it must be read in conjunction with Intellect Notes for Contributors. These notes can be referred to by contributors to any of Intellect's journals, and so are, in turn, not sufficient; contributors will also need to refer to the guidance such as this given for each specific journal. Intellect Notes for Contributors is obtainable from www.intellectbooks.com/journals, or on request from the Editor of this journal.
