Preferred Spellings 26

At Intellect we use the Harvard referencing system. This was developed in the United States in the 1950s and 1960s, and since then it has become the most commonly used system in international academic journals. The Harvard referencing system is flexible and simple, easy to use for the author as well as the reader.

Should you need additional information, there are a number of excellent Harvard referencing system sites on the Internet such as:

- <http://libweb.anglia.ac.uk/referencing/harvard.htm>
- <http://www.leedsmet.ac.uk/lskills/open/sfl/content/harvard/>

Please note that the styles on these sites may deviate from Intellect house style.

Additionally, please feel free to direct any queries you may have to amy.r@intellectbooks.com or your Production Manager.

CONSISTENCY

We use standard British English, using the Oxford English Dictionary as our source of reference, and the stylistic rules contained in the New Hart's Rules or the Oxford Dictionary for Writers and Editors, with a few minor exceptions.

Please note that there is a preference for 'ize' endings rather than 'ise' (e.g. 'organize', 'organization') but 'advertise' and 'compromise'; if you are unsure which ending to use, please consult one of the texts listed above. A list of preferred spellings of commonly used words can be found at the end of the guide.

A-Z OF STYLE

Abbreviations

Commonly used abbreviations: Ph.D., BBC, UN, MA, Dr (see also Subject Areas and Titles and Preferred Spellings).

Please spell out the names of countries (e.g. European Union, United Kingdom, United States) especially if they are used in a list or sentence containing the names of other countries (e.g. France, Germany, Spain). Retain the abbreviated form if it is used as an adjective (e.g. US policy, EU Social Fund).

Do not confuse e.g. (meaning 'for example') with i.e. (meaning 'that is').

Acknowledgements

Acknowledgements should not appear as a footnote attached to the article title. Instead they should appear at the end of the article under the heading 'Acknowledgements'.

Articles not Papers

Please ensure that you use the term ‘article’ and not ‘paper’ when referring to your contribution to any journal. The term ‘paper’ can, however, be used when referring to submissions to a conference.

Bullet Points

The first word of each bullet point should have an initial capital letter and use full points only if the text in the bullet point consists of a completed sentence; otherwise use no punctuation if the bullet points are just a list of single (or a couple of) words or fragments of sentences.

Capitalization

In both title and sentence case in British English, the first word is always capitalized. In title case, nouns, adjectives (other than possessives), pronouns and verbs are capitalized. Articles, conjunctions and prepositions are left in lower case. In a bibliography, subtitles are separated from the main title with a colon, and begin with a capital letter. Capitalization of foreign titles follows the rules of the language. See Foreign Titles below.

Capitals Following Colons

In British English, the word immediately following after a colon is in lower case, unless it is a quote or display quote. In US English only, a capital letter may be used after a colon if the following text is a complete sentence. See New Harts Rules Chapter 5.2.

Captions

The following is the agreed style for captions, and as much information as is available should be provided:

For example:

See also Visual Arts in the References section. Please note the colon after the number and the terminating full point, even if the caption is not a full sentence.

Contractions

Spell out contractions (e.g. don't, didn't, I'll, etc.) in articles.

Dates

21 March 1978 (but September 11 or 9/11 is permitted)

1970s, 1980s

1964–67; 1897–1901

nineteenth century, twentieth century, twenty-first century

Emphasis

When italics are used for emphasis within quotations, authors are asked to ensure that they indicate whether the emphasis is from the original text (original emphasis) or whether they are adding it to make their own point (emphasis added).

We confine the use of bold type to headings and subheadings within articles. It should not be used for emphasis, or in the names of organizations or exhibitions.

Italics should only be used sparingly for emphasis as each use diminishes the effectiveness of the emphasis, and as italics are used for other purposes such as the titles of books, films or plays, etc.

If an author wishes to draw attention to a word or phrase, it is acceptable to use roman type inside single quotation marks.

Foreign Titles

The rules governing the capitalization of titles in some languages, such as French, are complex.

See New Hart's Rules Chapter 12. It is acceptable to treat foreign language titles in the same way as English ones. See also Translation below.

Foreign Words

Unless specified otherwise in the Preferred Spellings list (and in the Oxford Dictionary for Writers and Editors) foreign words and phrases inserted in the text should be italicized, but capitalized proper names of foreign organizations, institutions, political parties, trade unions, etc. should be kept in roman type, not in italics.

Hyphens

Please use a hyphen to avoid mispronunciation, particularly where there is a collision of vowels/consonants e.g. anti-intellectual. (Note that cooperate and coordinate are written thus, despite the collision of 'o'). A hyphen can also be used to avoid confusion where a prefix is repeated (re-release, sub-subcategory) or to avoid confusion with another word (reform/re-form, re-cover/recover).

Note that we use an en rule (–), rather than a hyphen (-) or an em rule (—), with space either side as a parenthetical dash, thus: 'There are two major kinds of populations – citizens and foreign exports – here.'

Lists

We the use of bullet points when listing items of interest, although numerical lists should be used when a number of points is specified in the preceding paragraph. E.g. 'McLuhan's four laws of media include...'. When numbers are used they should be formatted as '1. 2. 3.' etc. if the points being made are listed one below the other. If the list of points is incorporated within a paragraph, then the numbers should be formatted '(1) (2) (3)' etc.

Notes

In general, we discourage the use of extensive notes – if something is worth saying, it is worth saying in the text itself. A note will divert the reader's attention away from your argument. If a note is necessary, please use Word's note-making facility, and ensure that these are endnotes, not footnotes. Place note calls outside the punctuation, after the comma, full stop, colon etc. The note call must be in superscripted Arabic (¹, ², ³).

Numbers

One to twenty (in words)

21–99 (in figures)

100, 200, 1000, 1500, 5000, 10,000

Numbers in a range, up to 100 both numbers appear in full: pp. 10–19, 19–21

After 100, only the changed part of the second number is used: 102–07, 347–49

thirty, forty, fifty (if expressed as an approximation)

15 years old (only introduce hyphens to avoid ambiguity, for example 'he is 7 years old', but '7-year-old children')

3 per cent, 4.7 per cent, 10 per cent, 25 per cent

16mm, 35mm, 6km²

Percentages

We use 'per cent' rather than '%' if the term is used once or twice in a single isolated paragraph. '%' is only acceptable if a whole series of percentages are given within a paragraph in, for example, a statistical survey. Percentages should always be expressed in figures not words (i.e. 3 per cent; 4.7 per cent; 10 per cent; 25 per cent).

Personal Pronouns

Capitalize the initial letter in personal pronouns (e.g. He, Him, His) only when referring to God. Do not use this form when referring to prophets or founders of the world's religions (e.g. Abraham, Bahá'u'lláh, Buddha, Jesus, Muhammad, etc.).

Quotations

Our style for quotations embedded into a paragraph is single quotation marks, with double quotation marks for a second quotation contained within the first. The full point should follow the bracketed citation. All long quotations (i.e. over 40 words long) should be 'displayed' i.e. set into an indented paragraph with an additional one-line space above and below, and without quotation marks at the beginning or end. For a display quote, the bracketed reference appears after the full point, on a separate line.

Omitted material in quotations should be signalled by an ellipsis enclosed in square brackets: [...]. Please avoid breaking up quotations with an insertion such as, for example: 'This approach to mise-en-scène', says MacPherson, 'is not sufficiently elaborated' (MacPherson 1998: 33).

Quotes embedded in a sentence, which include a capital in the original source should be amended to lower case using square brackets:

For example:

Nora Barnacle referred to Joyce's work as '[t]hat chop suey' (Maddox 1988)

Not

Nora Barnacle referred to Joyce's work as 'That chop suey' (Maddox 1988).

Serial Comma

We prefer that you do not use a comma before the 'and' or the 'or' between the last two items. A comma is only required before 'and' if you are joining two independent sentences with a conjunction.

Subject Areas and Titles

Subject areas should be presented in lower-case unless they appear as part of an institutional title. Professional titles should be presented lower-case. Note: Ph.D., MA, BA, MFA, M.Sc.

For example:

'Jack Smith, Ph.D, is professor of drama and theatre studies in the Department of Drama at the University of Victoria. He specializes in contemporary performance practice, pedagogy and theatre education.'

Translated Titles

If readers are unlikely to understand the title of a non-English-language work in your text (and references), the title in the original language may be accompanied by an English translation by the author, especially if its sense is not implied by the surrounding text. This applies to all types of work (journal article, book, film etc.). See References for more examples.

Unofficial translations (e.g. those by the author) should be placed in quotation marks with parentheses, in roman type with an initial capital on the first word of title and subtitle.

For example:

Auraicept na-éces ('Primer of the poets')

The official titles of published translations are set in italics inside parentheses.

For example:

Voltaire's Dictionnaire philosophique (A Dictionary of Philosophy) (1824)

For journal articles/book chapters etc., the translated title should also be placed in quotation marks within parentheses in sentence case.

For example:

Kayser, Jacques (1954), 'Une semaine dans le monde' ('A week in the world'), Étude compare de, 17, pp. 1–35.

Films that have been officially released with an alternative title are set in title case italics within brackets. Unofficial translations of titles (by the author for illustration), are set with initial capital only, roman type, in quote marks within brackets. See Foreign Film for more examples.

For example:

Zhang, Zimou (2004), Shi mian mai fu (House of Flying Daggers), China: Beijing New Picture Film Co.

Mehra, Rakesh Omprakash (2006), Rang De Basanti ('Colour it yellow'), India: ROMP.

REFERENCES

Citations

House style is Harvard references embedded in the main text in the Author date format (Surname Year: Page).

For example:
(Harper 1999: 27)

Most of the subsections below contain examples for formatting in-text citations. Multiple citations within the same sentence can be listed in any order, separated by semi-colons. References by the same author are separated with commas.

For example:
(Anon. 2012; Benjamin 2005, 2009; Rainer 1965)

Authors or artists cited in other works should be formatted as follows: (Williams cited in Hughes 2012: 54). This should be listed under the secondary work (i.e. Hughes) in the references.

References

There should be a single bibliography. The default name for this list is 'References'.

All items should be listed alphabetically by author or authorship. Numerous works from the same author or source should be listed together chronologically with the earliest work listed first.

Bibliographies do not need to be split into 'References' and 'Further Reading', 'Works Cited' or 'Filmography'.

'Ibid.' and 'op. cit.' are not used in Harvard referencing. Repeated names in the references should be replaced with a _____ before the year. See the Multiple works by the same author section below.

'et al.' can be used for in-text citations for works with three or more authors, but all author names should be provided in the References.

If a full first name is not available, initials can be used.

When film or book titles are cited within another title, the format should reflect the original italicization i.e. film/book titles are set in roman font within an italicised reference.

'Anon.' should be used for items for which you do not have an author.

If there are no pages available, the information may be omitted, or n.pag. may be used. If there is no date available, then n.d. may be used.

In title case, nouns, adjectives (other than possessives), pronouns and verbs are capitalized. The second part of a compound word is also capitalized. Articles, conjunctions and prepositions are left lower case. Capitalization of foreign titles follows the rules of the language. See New Harts Rules Chapter 12 for guidance.

We have provided examples of the preferred forms for references below. Occasionally you may need to cite a source not specified below – in which case please follow the example type that is most like your source.

1. BOOKS

Book titles should be in italicized title case. Book chapter titles should be in sentence case within single quotation marks. For the city of publication, US states are indicated using a two letter abbreviation, unless the state is deemed unnecessary (as in New York, NY).

Books with a single author

Reference:

Surname, Name (Year), Title, City: Publisher.

For example:

Anon. (1957), Narrative in Early Renaissance Art, Oxford: Books Press.

Auslander, Philip (2007), Theory for Performance Studies, Abingdon: Routledge.

Carey, John (2012), The Intellectuals and the Masses: Pride and Prejudice Among the Literary Intelligentsia 1880–1939, London: Faber & Faber.

References should be alphabetized by author surname, taking multiple authors into account. Names containing the French prefix ‘de’ should not be alphabetized under ‘D’. Italian authors with a ‘di’ or ‘da’ prefix are commonly placed under ‘D’, similarly Dutch authors with a ‘van’ prefix are placed under ‘V’. See New Hart’s Rules 6.1.8–6.1.9 for guidance.

For example:

Beauvoir, Simone de (2014), The Second Sex, London: Random House.

Caputo, John (2000), More Radical Hermeneutics: On Not Knowing Who We Are, Bloomington: Indiana University Press.

Certeau, Michel de (1997), The Capture of Speech and Other Political Writings, Minneapolis, MN: University of Minnesota Press.

van Dijk, Teun A. (1987), Communicating Racism: Ethnic Prejudice in Thought and Talk, Newbury Park: Sage.

Citation: (Author Year: Page)

(Auslander 2007: 57)

(de Beauvoir 2014: 89)

(de Certeau 1997: 99)

(van Dijk 1987: 78)

Books with multiple authors

Separate authors with a comma, using ‘and’ before the last author name. All names are in the order Surname, Name. ‘Et al.’ may be used within the text for books with three or more authors, but all names must be provided in the References section.

Reference:

Surname, Name and Surname, Name (Year), Title, City: Publisher.

For example:

Marx, Karl and Engels, Friedrich (2002), The Communist Manifesto, London: Penguin.

Citation: (Author and Author Year: Page)

(Marx and Engels 2002: 3)

Edited books

Editors are indicated with (ed.) or (eds). The abbreviation does not need a full point: (eds) not (eds.). The editor is referred to using Initial. Surname rather than full first name as standard. N.B. The year should be that of the edited collection. If the chapter/article has been published elsewhere, the date of the original publication may appear in square brackets.

Listed under chapter author

Reference:

Surname, Name (Year), 'Title of chapter/article', in Initial. Surname (ed.), Title, City: Publisher, page range.

For example:

Derrida, Jacques (2002), 'The university without condition', in P. Kamuf (ed.), Without Alibi, Stanford: Stanford University Press, pp. 202–37.

Foucault, M. (1988), 'Technologies of the self', in L. H. Martin, H. Gutman and P. H. Hutton (eds), Technologies of the Self: A Seminar with Michel Foucault, Amherst: The University of Massachusetts Press, pp. 16–50.

Citation:

(Derrida 2002: 204–05)

(Foucault 1988: 18)

Listed under editor

Reference:

Surname, Name (ed.)/(eds) (Year), Title, City: Publisher.

For example:

Frank, Claudine (ed.) (2003), The Edge of Surrealism: A Roger Caillois Reader, Durham: Duke University Press.

Martin, L. H., Gutman, H. and Hutton, P. H. (eds), Technologies of the Self: A Seminar with Michel Foucault, Amherst: The University of Massachusetts Press.

Where the reference is part of a collection by the same author, the name can either be repeated (where the editor of a volume has also contributed a chapter), or omitted (where there are no other contributors, for example a collection of an author's work).

For example:

Jeffreys, Elaine and Allatson, Paul (2015), 'Afterword', in E. Jeffreys and P. Allatson (eds), Celebrity Philanthropy, Bristol: Intellect, pp. 211–17.

Butler, Judith (1993), 'Arguing with the real', in Bodies that Matter: On the Discursive Limits of 'Sex', New York: Routledge, pp. 139–68.

Alternative editions

The following abbreviations are used for later editions, multi-volume works and reprints. See Unpublished Works below for how to reference forthcoming titles.

Later edition: 2nd ed., 3rd ed.,

For example:

Ben-Naim, Arieh (2016), Entropy Demystified: The Second Law Reduced to Plain Common Sense, 2nd ed., London: World Scientific Publishing Company.

Reprint: [following final end point] Rpt. in

For example:

Wein, L. and Wrightson, B. (1971), 'Swamp Thing', House of Secrets #92, New York: DC Comics. Rpt. in Wein, L. and Wrightson, B. (1991), Swamp Thing: Dark Genesis, New York: DC Comics.

Revised edition: rev. ed.,

For example:

Koch, Liz (2012), Core Awareness: Enhancing Yoga, Pilates, Exercise and Dance, rev. ed., New York: North Atlantic Books.

Second volume: vol. 2, note lower case 'v'

For example:

Simon Sykes, Christopher (2014), Hockney: The Biography, vol. 2, London: Century.

Multiple cities of publication

Multiple publication locations should be indicated as 'City and City: Publisher and Publisher' (not &, or /). US states are indicated using a two letter abbreviation, unless the state is deemed unnecessary (as in New York, NY).

For example:

O'Donoghue, Tom (2017), Understanding Contemporary Education: Key Themes and Issues, London and New York: Routledge.

Multiple works by the same author

References by the same author should be ordered from oldest to most recent. References for the same author with the same year should be distinguished using a, b, c etc. within the parenthesis. Commas are used to separate these in citations.

Repeated names in the references should be presented with a _____ before the year.

'Ibid.' and 'op. cit' are not used in Harvard referencing.

Reference:

Co-authored titles, or those that the author has edited, appear after the monographs in a reference list.

For example:

Žižek, Slavoj (1999), The Ticklish Subject: The Absent Centre of Political Ontology, London: Verso.

_____ (2006a), How to Read Lacan, London: Granta Books.

_____ (2006b), Interrogating the Real, New York: Continuum.

_____ (ed.) (2011), Hegel and the Infinite: Religion, Politics and Dialectic, New York: Columbia University Press.

Žižek, Slavoj and Daly, Glyn (2004), Conversations with Žižek, Cambridge: Polity.

Citation:

(Žižek 2006a, 2006b).

Books in a series

Reference:

When books are in a series, the series name appears after the book title in title case without italics.

For example:

Margolis, Ellen and Tyler Renaud, L. (eds) (2010), The Politics of American Actor Training, Routledge Advances in Theatre and Performance Studies, London: Routledge.

Translations

Where an editor and/or translator are named

Reference:

Surname, Name (Year)

For example:

Lacan, J. (1988), The Seminar of Jacques Lacan, Book 1 (ed. J. A. Miller, trans. J. Forrester), Cambridge: Cambridge University Press.

Nancy, J. L. (2008), Philosophical Chronicles (trans. Franson Manjali), New York: Fordham University Press.

E-books and pdfs

These appear in a similar style to other book or journal references, but a URL and accessed date are included. Page numbers are preferred if available.

If there are no pages available, the information may be omitted, or n.pag. may be used. If there is no date available, then n.d. may be used.

Original publication year may be referenced using square brackets.

There is no need to specify [ebook], [ejournal] or [online] in Harvard referencing.

Reference:

Surname, Name (Year), Title, City: Publisher and/or Collection, URL. Accessed date.

For example:

Carpentier, Nico (2011), Media and Participation: A Site of Ideological-Democratic Struggle, Bristol: Intellect, <https://oapen.org/search?identifier=606390>. Accessed 1 July 2016.

Dictionary

Listed under a specific word

Reference:

'Word cited' (Year), Dictionary Title, edition, City: Publisher, URL [if available]. Accessed date.

For example:

'footnoting, n.' (2016), OED Online, Oxford: Oxford University Press, <http://www.oed.com/view/Entry/36961802>. Accessed 23 May 2016.

Listed with no specific word

Reference:

Dictionary Title (Year), edition, City: Publisher, URL [if available]. Accessed date.

For example:

Encyclopaedia Britannica (1991), 15th ed., Chicago: Encyclopaedia Britannica Inc.

Citation:

We suggest citing the title of the dictionary and year in all cases, whether a specific word is cited or not e.g. (Dictionary Title Year).

For example:

'footnoting'... (OED Online 2016)

(Encyclopaedia Britannica 1991)

Play and scripts

For a printed publication/script of a play, emphasis is given to the author first. The play is referenced as a book.

Reference:

Surname, Name (Year), Title of Play, Series or Edition (Editors) [if applicable], City: Publisher.

For example:

Shakespeare, William (2001), Henry VI – Parts I, II, III, Signet Classics (ed. S. Barnet), NY: Penguin.
Rabey, David Ian (2004), The Wye Plays: The Back of Beyond and The Battle of the Crows, Bristol: Intellect.

Citation:

For a specific quote, citations include Act and Scene. They may also include a line number. (Author, Title of Play Act. Scene [in numbers or numerals as provided]: line numbers)

For example:

‘there is example for’t; the Lady of the Strachy married the yeoman of the wardrobe’
(Shakespeare, Twelfth Night II.V: 36–37).

Poetry and short stories

Poems and short stories should be referenced in the collection that they appear in, unless unpublished. Titles for poems and short stories appear in title case within quotation marks.

Reference:

Surname, Name (Year), ‘Title of Poem/Short Story’, in Title of Publication, City: Publisher.

For example:

Fitzgerald, F. Scott (2012), ‘The Jelly-Bean’, in Tales of the Jazz Age, Oxford: Oxford University Press, pp. 11–15.

Plath, Sylvia (1968), ‘Morning Song’, in Ariel, London: Faber & Faber, p. 3.

2. JOURNAL AND NEWSPAPER ARTICLES

Article titles should be in sentence case within single quotation marks. Journal, newspaper and magazine titles should be in italicized title case.

Print journal articles

Reference:

Surname, Name (Year), ‘Title of article’, Journal Title, volume:issue, page range.

For example:

Overdiek, Anja (2016) ‘Fashion designers and their business partners: Juggling creativity and commerce’, International Journal of Fashion Studies, 4:1, pp. 27–46.

Jones, Deborah and Smith, Karen (2005), ‘Middle-earth meets New Zealand: Authenticity and location in the making of The Lord of the Rings’, Journal of Management Studies, 42:5, pp. 923–45.

Citation:

(Overdiek 2016: 32)

(Jones and Smith 2005: 925)

Special issue or section

To cite an entire issue or special section of a journal, give the editors of the issue and title of the issue.

Reference:

Surname, Name (ed.) (Year), 'Title of special issue/special section', special issue/special section, Journal Title, volume:issue, page range.

For example:

Bolton, Lucy (ed.) (2015), '#Marilyneveryday', special issue, Film, Fashion & Consumption, 4:2&3.

Dillane, A., Langlois, T., Power, M. J., and Bhriain, O. N., (eds) (2015), 'Urban soundscapes and critical citizenship: Explorations in activating a "sonic turn" in urban cultural studies', special section, Journal of Urban Cultural Studies, 2:1&2, pp. 89–176.

Newspaper articles

Reference:

Surname, Name (Year), 'Title of article or column header', Full Title of Newspaper, date and month, page range [column line if appropriate].

For example:

Asthana, A., Stewart, H. and Brooks, L. (2016), 'Theresa May visits Scotland to press case for "special union"', The Guardian, 15 July, p. 4b.

Citation:

(Asthana et al. 2016: 4b)

Online magazine or journal article

Reference:

Surname, Name (Year), 'Title of article', Full Title of Magazine/Journal, volume:issue, page range [if available], URL. Accessed date.

For example:

Bashforth, Kirsty (2016), 'The rules for socialising with work colleagues', Harper's Bazaar, July, <http://www.harpersbazaar.co.uk/people-parties/bazaar-at-work/news/a37383/how-to-socialise-effectively-at-work/>. Accessed 15 July 2016.

Citation:

Online newspaper articles

Reference:

Surname, Name (Year), 'Title of article', Title of Publication, date, URL. Accessed date.

For example:

Asthana, A., Stewart, H. and Brooks, L. (2016), 'Theresa May visits Scotland to press case for "special union"', The Guardian, 15 July, <http://www.theguardian.com/politics/2016/jul/15/theresa-may-to-visit-scotland-nicola-sturgeon>. Accessed 16 July 2016.

Citation:

(Asthana et al. 2016)

Reviews

Unless the review is given an original title, book/conference/exhibition reviews should be clearly indicated as such using 'review'.

Reference:

Surname, Name [of reviewer] (Year), 'Title', review, Title of Publication, volume:issue, page range, URL [if available], Accessed date.

For example:

Keddie, Nikki (2000), 'Women in the Medieval Islamic World: Power, Patronage, and Piety by Gavin R. G. Hambly', review, Iranian Studies, 33:1&2, pp. 242–45.

3. OTHER SOURCE TYPES

Archive material

Reference:

Author (Year), 'Title' or Title [If there is no title specified, do not use quotation marks. Document MS number can be an appropriate replacement for title], date, City: Name of Library/Archive/Repository, Collection, MS Number [whichever available].

No title

For example:

Peacock, A. D. (1960), MS of BBC lecture broadcast, 1 May, Dundee: University of Dundee Archive Services, URSF 2/12/3(14).

Thompson, D. W. (1889), letter to Cambridge University Press, 25 May, St Andrews: University of St. Andrews Library Special Collections, MS 42523.

With title

For example:

Anon. (1557), 'Letter to my father', Oxford: Bodleian Library Special Collections, MS 4572/5.

Harris, C. W. J. (1969), Charles William Frederick Goss, London: Bishopsgate Institute Archive Collections, Charles Goss Collection 2/2.

Citation:

In text, these are often referred to by the MS number as well as or instead of the main title. Both are allowed.

In the anonymous 'Letter to my father' (Anon. 1557)
